

Find! Cardbird I by Robert Rauschenberg.

Look! At first glance, this may look like just collaged cardboard, but the artist used printing and stamping to add details and texture. This artwork is one of many in a series.

Describe! In the space below, circle any words that you think describe this image!

Robert Rauschenberg (American, 1925-2008) Cardbird I, 1971, Screen print on corrugated cardboard and tape collage with photo offset print. Gift of Eugene S. Cohen, 1977. (1977.032.001)

Rough

Smooth

Bumpy

Simple

Complex

Patterned

Textured

Soft

Hard

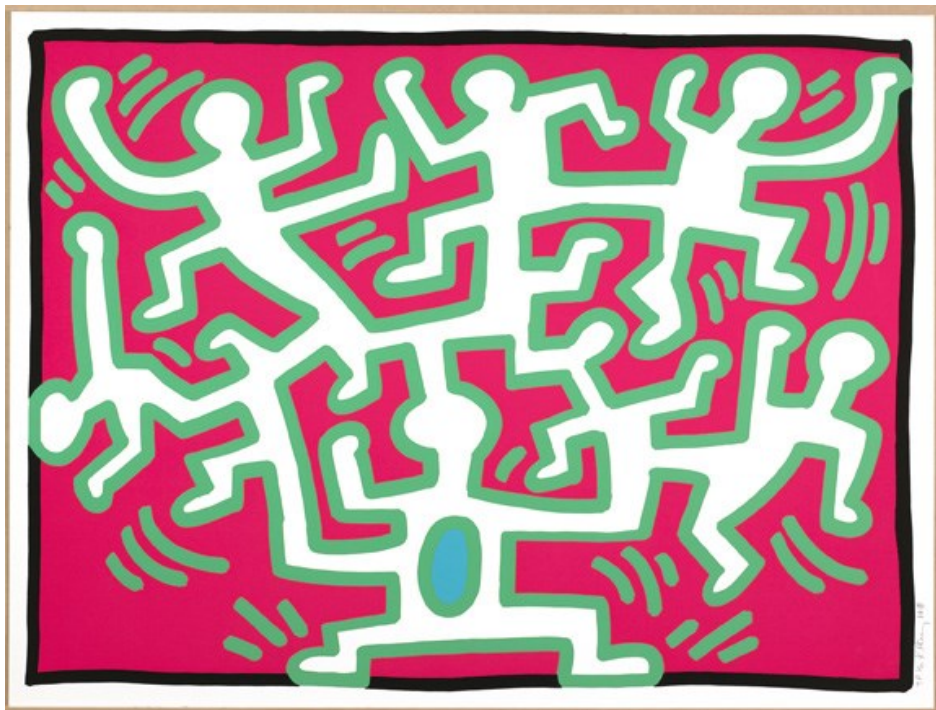

Flexible

Interesting

This treasure hunt is sponsored by the Allentown Art Museum Auxiliary.
Share your thoughts with us on social media tagging us at @AtownArtMuseum and #AAMatHome!

ALLENTOWN
ART MUSEUM

Find! Growing by Keith Haring.

Look! Keith Haring was known for telling stories through his colorful and bright artworks. His shapes and colors might be simple, but they can say a lot. Think about what kind of message could be told through this artwork.

Respond! Use the space below to write a short story inspired by this artwork.

Keith Haring (American, 1958-1990) Growing, 1988, Silk screen, 100% rag two-ply Lenox Museum Board. Private Collection. (EL 1992.110.007.003)
